A Bell from the Blue

I
A Bed from the Blue Soldiers Mess Hall

A knee wound. He was economical with words. But an ECG had been done.

The dressing was changed. He was in a hospital bed, and his face was pale.

What happened was that the blue, the blue of the mess hall...

At this point I was asked to operate on him in the kitchen. I had to work on him while he was still in my hand. I jumped out of bed, started to write down...
