

Young Eun Park

Vanderbilt University
Department of Psychology
111 21st Ave South
301 Wilson Hall
Nashville, TN 37240
(615) 322-2835
youngeun.park@vanderbilt.edu

EDUCATION

2004 – 2009	Korea University, Seoul, Korea Advisor: Dr. Yang Seok Cho	B.A. in Psychology
2009 – 2011	Korea University, Seoul, Korea Advisor: Dr. Yang Seok Cho	M.A. in Experimental Psychology
2011 – Present	Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN Advisor: Dr. Frank Tong	Ph.D candidate in Psychology

HONORS AND AWARDS

2009 – 2010	Brain Korea 21 Fellowship, Korea Research Foundation, Korea
2008	Academic Excellence Award, Korea University
2007	Academic Excellence Award, Korea University
2006 – 2007	International Visiting Student Program Scholarship
2006	Academic Excellence Award, Korea University
2005	Korea University Orchestra Scholarship

MANUSCRIPTS UNDER REVIEW

Park, Y. E. & Cho, Y. S. (Under review). Spatially Selective Suppression of Color Singletons in the Exogenous Cueing Paradigm.

Park, Y. E. & Cho, Y. S. (Under review). Attentional capture by the color word in the Stroop Task: The effect of abrupt onsets.

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

Park, Y. E., Jung, H., & Cho, Y. S. (2011). Contents of the Attentional Set Revealed by the Negative Spatial Cueing Effect. 52nd Annual Meeting of the Psychonomic Society, Seattle, WA.

Park, Y. E. & Cho, Y. S. (2010). Contingent attentional capture by the matching color at uncued locations. 51st Annual Meeting of the Psychonomic Society, St. Louis, MO.

Park, Y. E. & Cho, Y. S. (2010). The role of top-down control settings in attentional capture by color and onsets. Cognitive Neuroscience Conference, Seoul, Korea.

Park, Y. E. & Cho, Y. S. (2009). Attentional capture by the color word in the Stroop task: The effect of abrupt onsets in the Stroop task. 50th Annual Meeting of the Psychonomic Society, Boston, MA.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

2009 – 2010 Teaching Assistant (Attention and Response Selection, Cognitive Systems Engineering)
Instructor: Dr. Yang Seok Cho, Korea University

OTHER

2007 International Summer Campus, Korea University

2006 – 2007 International Visiting Student Program at University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA